

ABSTRACT

WDM SIGNAL MONITORING

A system for monitoring WDM channels in an optical system includes a phased array optical wavelength demodulator (phasar). The phasar is controlled to vary the effective optical length of the waveguides in the array such that a particular wavelength signal can be output for monitoring.

[FIG. 1]